CAMPAIGN PAPER!

The Prospectus of a LARGE CAMPAIGN NEWSPAPER will be promptly issued from this office-a paper that will defend and uphold THE WHIG PARTY, AS IT IS AND AS IT HAS BEEN; that will do full justice to the great Democratic party; and that will contribute its full measure of aid in consummating a NOW CERTAIN FUTURE EVENT-THE ELECTION OF WINFIELD SCOTT TO THE PRESIDENCY OF THE UNI-TED STATES.

SEE FIRST, THIRD, AND FOURTH

Mr. Clay.

This gentleman rested well last night, and is at least no worse to-day.

The first strawberries we have heard of this season were this morning presented to Mr. Clay by Mr. Slater, of Alexandria.

The beautiful couch recently sent to him from Philadelphia was the gift of some Whigs of Rappahannock county, Va. It is an ingeniously-contrived affair, with joints by which it can be made to assume any desired shape.

A Specimen of Fair Dealing.

We have heretofore stated that if there were points of attack to which the batteries of our Democratic adversaries could be advantageously directed, there would be less desire for electioncering letters and speeches from Gen. Scott; and the Union of this morning fully and entirely confirms our assertion. After ambling through a long article in an attempt to prove that the Whig party is not to be trusted on the Compromise, and that the Democratic party is, it proclaims

"GEN. SCOTT MAY WRITE COMPROMISE LETTERS AS OFTEN AND AS FULLY AS HE PLEASES; but as long as he is with a party organization which has labored to defeat these measures, and is proscribing all prominent politicians who took a prominent part in passing them, HE WILL NEVER BEABLE TO SATISFY THE COUNTRY THAT HE OUGHT TO BE TRUSTED WITH THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE sound on this subject as their opponents; but priate season, if forced upon us, by either Demowe pass that by for the chief point in view. The Union here in words reveals a fact that the whole world has all along well known, that it is insincere in its importunities respecting the avowals contemplated, in conjunction with others of its and chafed by the discomfiture it has suffered, it peevishly reveals the truth it would have withthe country that he ought to be trusted with the ' chief executive power!"

The professed friends of the Whig party who conviction. have heretofore depended upon Democratic confreres for countenance in making their malignant attacks upon him, will surely feel degraded in their own eyes by the revelation of a truth they dare not themselves confess. If there is any justice or magnanimity in them, they will now desert their untenable position, and give their aid in securing his election. But whether they do to enable him to proceed in his descent. On the or not, his election is a foregone conclusion with arrival of this, Mr. Weldon will resume the work the American people, and leading politicians can produce precious little effect on either side of the question.

The New York Express.

The Alexandria Age, a pretty severe and caustic enemy of the Whig party, quotes the language of the Express upon which we yesterday commented, and says:

the Whigs after such a disclosure from such a source, we may look out for the most corrupt administration that has ever disgraced the annals of any country, and the people will have no right to utter a murmur of complaint that they have been imposed upon or cheated by the operation."

If the premises of the Age respecting the highness of the authority be correct, the Whigs are indeed in a bad way; but we very well know that our English foemen did not think very highly of Benedict Arnold after he went over to them; nor do we believe that any diminutives of that personage will be revered by the generous and truthful among our Democratic foes-the Age course means itself and its party-the party. We do not wonder at its quickened curiosity; Its anxieties are very acute. But philosophic we have no such concern, and don't care a dime whom the Democrats nominate, or what declarations he or they may make. We are as easy with winners and losers!

As the period for holding the Whig Convention draws nigh, the public curiosity is much quickened to see the Compromise declaration by that convention, or by its candidate .- Union.

"We distinctly remember that the long series now rectus. of no-party letters written by General Taylor were 'humbugs!" — Union.

The Union gives it to General Taylor daily; but the General heeds it not, and it would be as well to let that matter drop. General Scott wrote "a long series of no-party letters," commencing with his "hasty-plate-of-soup letter" in Washington, and continued at Vera Cruz, Cerro Gordo, &c. Couldn't the Union give us a review of these? It would be vastly instructive and entertaining. We would like to see it hold the gallant old hero to strict accountability for every one of them. Come, good friends, "use him up!"

county, N. Y., elect eighteen Fillmore delegates

This is well. Mr. Fillmore deserves the respect and kind regard of all men; and such appreciation of his worth by the friends and neighbors of his home is as just as it doubtless is welcome and pleasant to our esteemed President.

Per It is not the politicians, but the PEOPLE, who have brought out General Scott; and they make a sad error who take the declarations of a few politicians for an index to popular opinion on Mr. Buchanan.

The Republic of this morning contains a notarial certificate it has just received of certain testimony respecting the Freesoilism of Mr. Buchanan. There of course is to be much crossfiring on this subject; but we do not think it is now in season. A severe fire has been opened on General Scott, whom nobody suspects of having two sets of opinions, and this not only by Democrats, but by Whigs also. New-vamped declarations are demanded of him, and he is aspersed, not because he has indicated any unwillingness to reveal his views upon all fitting subjects at a proper time, but because his catechists, who approach him with threats and menaces of desertion, think they are entitled to dictate to him the time, the manner, and the place.

We deprecate all present crimination and recrimination. The nomines of the National Democratic Convention is the only person with whom we should have to deal; and if that nominee is to be General Cass, General Houston, Mr. Douglas, or Mr. Dickinson, it will be a very great waste of words to prove at this early date that Mr. Buchanan is or has been a Freesoiler, a Federalist, or a Pennsylvania "Whiskey Boy." And so with all the others.

Too great readiness in making declarations argues, in our opinion, a consciousness in a candidate or his friends of a vulnerable reputation; and so few men are there the opinions of whose lives are uniform and consistent, that it is, perhaps, asking too much of poor human nature to seek for many such in the present canvass.

The nativity of Gen. Scott, his associations throughout life, the character of his public services, his known agency in procuring the enactment of the Compromise measures, and the open frankness of his nature, are ample in testimony of his true, firm, and unswerving position; and we need not marvel that he should decline running out upon the highways to proclaim himself a friend of the Union. If it is not so with other gentlemen it is their misfortune. There may be many Whigs and Democrats who are perfectly settled in the present popular belief, but who have not always thought as they now think; yet we do not discredit their sincerity. But if the reminiscences of the past are to be invoked, there are many strange and long-forgotten memories to be revived!

The candidate of our choice has nothing to fear. There are others, however, who would do well to look out. They have made the procla-

An Artesian Well.

A well has been excavated at Charleston, South Carolina, to the depth of between nine hundred and one thousand feet, and Mr. Weldon, the operator, is now in Philadelphia, awaiting the completion, by Messrs. Morris, Tasker & Morris, of that city, of twelve hundred feet of iron tube, with, as he states, every prospect of success.

A Year of Grace.

The legislature of Massachusetts has passed a no life save the will of their superiors. bill providing that criminals under sentence of death shall be imprisoned at hard labor in the State prison for one year previous to being hung. This is just, and the example should be everywhere imitated. There can be no objection to "This is from Whig authority—high Whig authority too—and if Scott is to be elected by protecting the condemned from the influence of pression, prejudice, and misconception. Figt passion, prejudice, and misconception. Fiat

We have very rarely witnessed any bad conduct in the omnibuses in this city; but yesterday, we are informed, two highly respectable ladies were foaming waters as they fell over the dam. A correspondent corrects an error of ours, and says that " all the Whig papers of the South and West do not condemn the course of the bolters." We did not assert that they did. It would be marvellous if no party paper could be found on the side of an existing administration, which, of course, will have much patronage to dispense When the Union speaks of the public it of for ten months to come. We do not mean to intimate that the papers preferring Mr. Fillmore are guided by this fact; but it certainly would be sufficient to influence some of them.

We'll all right with the floodtide," as a sailor remarked to us the other day while as an old boot, while the Union "squirms" like speaking of the Whig party. That tide is fast an eel with his coat off. So they say it always is coming in, and we hope our Whig friends will be prepared when the big craft rights. Eight hundred baskets of fine strawberries were received in New York, on Tuesday, from The Concert Last Night.

It was all that was predicted. There was splendid house, the Germania performed beautifully, Alfred Jaell made the grand piano "discourse most eloquent music," and Ole Bull was

In the discussions on this question in Congress and in the papers we hear but one word in connexion with the discipline that is necessary to be preserved in the navy, and that is punishment. All the humane and enlightened modes of curing the evil by removing the cause that the wisdom of the age has begun to engraft upon the penal codes of civilized nations is lost sight of when you talk of seamen, and the imagination of the old fogies is filled with the cat and the colt, and other modes that have come down to us from the dark and barbarous times when man was looked upon as a thing to be beaten whenever it suited the pleasure of his superior. To be sure, this part of the discipline of the navy has been altered; but then, true to their instincts, the friends of the compulsory system have fallen back upon species of punishment that, while it does not subject the backs of the sailors to the lash, inflicts upon them the most degrading and humili-ating punishments, calculated to root up a man's self-respect and make him a reckless and depraved peing, careless alike of the good or ill opinions of those by whom he is surrounded.

What is wanted to secure a more ready comliance with the regulations of the navy is a uture to which the seamen can look as a reward fer his obedience and attention to his duties. It is not enough that men are paid for their services, but there should be promotion open to all who have the genius and talent to win it. Why should there be any position in the American navy shut up to the poor and humble of her citizens who can show in their life and conduct that they are qualified to fill it with credit to themselves and profit to the nation. As it is now, the horizon of seaman's hopes are bounded by the petty officer's warrant, while at the same time he is lorded over and subjected to all kinds of insult by officers who do not possess one tittle of the ability that he is possessed of. The effect of this must be to drive from the naval service all the bold, manly, aspiring spirits that are the defence of our country in the hour of danger; or if they do enter they are soon relieved of all the ambi-tion with which they set out on their career, and reduced to the mere machines that seem to have

A Story with a Moral. Mr. Bones, of the firm of Fossil, Bones & Co. was one of those remarkable money-making men, whose uninterrupted success in trade had been the wonder and afforded the material for the gossip of the town for seven years. "Do you see that dam, my friend?" "I certainly do."

"Well, here you may learn the secret of ma-king money. That water would waste away and be of no practical use to any body, but for the dam. That dam turns it to good account-makes it perform some useful purpose, and then suffers it to pass along. That large paper-mill is kept in constant motion by this simple economy. Many mouths are fed in the manufacture of the article of paper, and intelligence is scattered broad-cast over the land on the sheets that are daily turned out; and in the different processes through which it passes money is made. So it is in the living of hundreds of people. They get enough money. It passes through their hands every day, and at the year's end they are no better off. What's the reason? They want a dam. Their expenditures are increasing, and no practical good is attained. They want them dammed up, so that nothing will pass through their hands complishing some useful purpose. Dam up your expenses, and you'll soon have enough occasion ally to spare a little, just like that dam. Look

DISCOVERIES IN AFRICA.—A very interesting letter from the Rev. Mr. Livingston, a missionary in South Africa, was read by Mr. Leavitt before the American Geographical Society at the University in New York, on the 13th ult. It contains an account of various rivers discovered in Fate points with weird finger to the recorded and of various tribes of Africans. The reverend gentleman had made two excursions, in company with Captain Oswold and another officer of British army, into the central part of the continent. They describe the Barotsi tribe as "very black, very large, and strongly developed, but peaceful, and more ingenious than the cape peoole." The letter says: "The Baloe tribes melt large quantities of iron, and are very good smiths. There are some tribes who have the singular custom of knocking out the upper front teeth of both sexes at the age of puberty; some of them knock out the teeth from beth jaws. These tribes have a few domestic animals, where the tsetsi (a sort of fly, which kills cattle) does not abound. Natural food is everywhere abundant. The Portuguese have never been up the Sesheke to trade, and there is a fine chance for Christian traders up these great streams." The reverend gentleman intends to send his family home, and go himself as a missionary to reside in the heart of the country.

It is to be expected that personal preference will, to some extent, govern the choice of many, but before the community generally, honest and discerning in its decision, is not the proper question, "What is the public interest?" It must be admitted by every reflecting citizen that sudden and uncalled-for change is not only unjust to the officer, but to the public interest. It takes away the personal motive and ambition which induce the faithful performance of duty, and loses to the public the benefit of official experience. If the present incumbent has discharged the duties of the office with ability and zeal, and can hereafter bring to it the advantage of practical experience, I trust that the people of Washington will not use the elective franchise to their own injury and the injustice of a public officer.
